PREFACE.

"Benigno Numine," the Second Part of the Catalogue of the Anthon Cabinet is here presented to the public.

The specimens of which it contains the account, are of a more historical and artistic character than those included in the first Part; and, as many of them are very rare, and have, in not a few instances, been unseen, as yet, in auction-sales on our side of the Atlantic, the owner would feel disappointed if their merit were not recognized as well as the infrequency of such an opportunity to become possessed of them at probably a moderate cost. A larger proportion, perhaps, of his favorite pieces is comprised in this division of the Sale than in any other.

It would be improper however to dilate here on the excellence of the merchandise to be disposed of. The unfamiliar coins and medals will be found amply described, and all, it is hoped, described accurately. If, in regard to condition, the words "fine," "uncirculated," and their synonyms and degrees appear so constantly, it is simply because objects in an inferior degree of preservation have been systematically excluded from this Cabinet

In view of the general, as well as numismatic, interest which attaches to most of the lots here enumerated, several copies of the present Catalogue have been sent to gentlemen not known as collectors, but distinguished rather as historic students, men of letters, and lovers of art. Some of these may be thereby induced to examine, at the auction-rooms, our beautiful and suggestive relics of the past, or perhaps be attracted by them to begin their acquisition and study. In any case persons competent to judge will have been enabled to convince themselves how much of instructive entertainment is involved in the pursuit of Numismatics.

In accordance with the plan explained in the preface to Part One, the next, or third, Sale of this series will comprise that division of the Cabinet which consists of Russian, Polish, Modern Greek, German, Scandinavian, and Dutch pieces, and will take place in the autumn of 1881.

With thanks to private purchasers, and to our numerous and highly-respected dealers, for the attention which they bestowed on the former Sale, and with the confident hope that the present one will prove equally, if not more, satisfactory to them, this portion of the Catalogue is now respectfully submitted to their inspection.

CHARLES E. ANTHON.

1070 1789 Bronze Medal on the election of Bailly as Mayor of Paris, Jul. 15. Bust of Bailly. Rev. Laudatory inscription. Hen. 37. Very fine Size 26

1071 1789 Bronze Medal on the establishment of the Mayoralty of Paris. Bust of Louis XVI. Rev. City of Paris, as a turret-crowned female, with many accessories. Hen. 39. Fine Size 34

1072 1789 Bronze Medal on the recall of Necker, in July. Rev. Laudatory inscription. Hen. 44. Fine Size 26

1073 1789 Bronze Medal on the Surrender of all Privileges by the National Assembly, Aug. 4. Bust of Louis XVI, "Restorer of French Liberty," a title voted to him on this occasion. Rev. Interior of the Hall of the Assembly at Versailles, with the deputies of the three Estates renouncing privileges at the altar of their country. Hen. 59. He says this medal is the most remarkable one of the time for size and careful execution; also that twelve hundred impressions were taken in copper, that one was given to each deputy, and that the dies were then broken. This one accordingly bears on the edge: "PIERRE JEAN LEBRETON PRIEUR DE RHEDON DÉPUTÉ DE BRETAGNE." Fine, except that some ardent Jacobin has scratched the name of the king Size 40

1074 1789 Bronze Medal on the arrival of the King at Paris, Oct. 6. Bust. Rev. Leg. (Fr.) "I will make my habitual abode there in future." Paris, as a turret-crowned female, conducts King, Queen, and Dauphin to the Tuileries. Hen. 63. Fine Size 34
